

Capacity distributions by region and year

Whiskers show the observed minimum and maximum; charcoal dots are individual candidates and horizontal jitter is only for visibility.